GREETINGS!

Another season has rolled on and is now history, and it is with pleasure we express our sincere appreciation for your fine patronage the past year. We especially desire to thank all those who have written us letters of recommendation for the excellent results from growing our bulbs. The good will of our customers inspires us to greater effort to serve you better in the future.

In presenting to you our 1950 catalog we begin our 28th year growing glads. We have gained a world of experience during this time—some of it the hard way. Our expert knowledge along this line in the selection of varieties, their faults and merits, diseases and cultural methods is of great value to our customers as we discard those varieties that do not meet our critical judgment. Varieties listed are those that have been tested and found to merit our recommendation. Our prices have been greatly reduced this year, due primarily to our keeping our overhead expenses to a minimum. These savings we are passing along to our customers in lower prices. Our bulbs are all grown in rich black loam soil, not over-fertilized nor over-grown, assuring our customers of healthy bulbs, full of vigor and vitality. From our experience and from reports sent to us from our customers the medium sized bulbs (size No. 3 and No. 4) give very satisfactory results, and we especially recommend planting these size bulbs. Give this size a trial and be surprised at the beautiful spikes you will have.

Glads predominate in the cut flower market in season. They are as easy to grow as any vegetable, and are indispensable as a cut flower. There is every color imaginable, will take a lot of abuse, easy to handle, can be beautifully arranged in corsages, wreaths, vases and baskets. The entire spike will bloom from the first floret to the last terminal bud. In fact they have beauty, with plenty of poise and grace.

Today's modern glads are the results of many years of hybridizing and cross-hybridizing from which has been developed and created varieties of excellent propagating qualities, healthy growth, immunity from disease, good shape of floret and all around beauty.

Frequently we have been asked what varieties were our best ten performers the past season. This is a very difficult question, as some folks would not admire the same varieties that we do. However, we will list the ten varieties that were our best performers. If we grew only 10 varieties, here they are in order: SPIC and SPAN, BURMA, CONNECTICUT YANKEE, SPOTLIGHT, MISS WISCONSIN, WHITE CHRISTMAS, SUNSPOT, PHANTOM BEAUTY, WEDGEWOOD and ELIZABETH the QUEEN. The past season was one, if not the longest cut flower seasons we have ever experienced—July 5 to October 10. In general the rainfall was adequate, marred only by an exceptional, unseasonable, severe heat wave the first three weeks of August. We will briefly mention some of the varieties that gave us near perfect performance in their color classes:

WHITE	Anna Mae White Challenge White Christmas Mt. Index Casablanca	CREAM— Leading Lady Oriental Pearl Lady Jane
YELLOW—	Spotlight Crinkle Cream (light) Van Gold	ORANGE— Daisy Mae Trocadero
BUFF—	Sunspot	ROSE— Burma (dark) Miss Wisconsin
RED—	Nancy Birch Red Red Charm	SALMON— Spic & Span Connecticut Yankee Phantom Beauty

INSTRUCTIONS FOR ORDERING—BUSINESS TERMS

READ CAREFULLY

GUARANTEE—It is our aim to send out only healthy, true to name and disease-free stock. We use extreme caution to keep our bulbs separate and true to name. However, we do make mistakes, and we are always ready to gladly rectify such mistakes. If stock does not meet with your approval it should be returned to us at once and purchase price will be refunded. We do not, however, guarantee bulblets to grow, nor, will we be responsible for the crop, the original amount of the order being the maximum amount that we will be liable for. Growing conditions and the careless use of the new chemical dips of which we do not have any control, makes this mandatory.

BUSINESS TERMS—Minimum order $2.50. All stock offered subject to prior sale. Cash with order, or 25% will hold order for later delivery, balance before delivery, or will send balance C.O.D.

SHIPMENTS—All prices quoted under the retail list are sent prepaid. If your order includes both retail and wholesale items, we will include in one package and send charges collect. In such cases we will include enough extras to more than offset the charges. Parcel post orders are sent only when there is no danger from freezing—about December 15 to March 1. Express orders will be prepaid if order amounts to $10.00 or more. This is the proper way for customers in the South to have their orders sent in the winter months, as the Express Company fully insures and guarantees safe delivery. Orders are sent at proper planting time or as specified on order.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF ORDERS—All orders are acknowledged either by card or invoice bearing an order number. If necessary to write about your order, we would appreciate your mentioning your order number that we may locate it quickly.

EXTRAS—We always include extras with every order—the larger the order the more extras. We like to include some of the newer varieties for trial. Varieties marked net cannot be included or used as extras.

DISCOUNTS—Where cash in full accompanies your order, and it is received before April 15, you may take the following discount in extra bulbs, your selection. $3.00 to $10.00—5% extra in bulbs; $10.00 to $25.00—10% extra in bulbs; over $25.00—15% extra in bulbs. Discounts will not apply on COLLECTIONS, VARIETIES MARKED "NET", nor WHOLESALE PRICES.

WHOLESALE ORDERS—Orders selected from the wholesale list are NOT PRE-PAID, but F.O.B. here. Minimum order from wholesale list is $7.00.

ORDER EARLY—We advise early ordering, as many varieties are sold out before planting time.

CLASSIFICATION

This year we are classifying nearly all the varieties of glads that we are listing, as to size, color and approximate days to bloom. The following classification chart is the one used by most of the major gladiolus shows.

	Class	COLOR CLASSES
Medium Glads.....100—Florets under 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ "	00 White White Cream	00 without conspicuous marking 01 with conspicuous marking 06
Small Glads.....~00—2 $\frac{1}{2}$ " through 3 $\frac{1}{4}$ "	10 Yellow Yellow Buff	10 (Light) 12 (Deep) 16
Medium Glads.....300—3 $\frac{1}{4}$ " through 4-3/8"	20 Orange Orange Orange	20 (Light) 22 (Deep) 24 (Red Orange)
Large Glads.....400—4 $\frac{1}{2}$ " through 5-3/8"	30 Salmon Salmon	30 (Light) 32 (Deep)
Giant Glads.....500—5 $\frac{1}{2}$ " or larger	Scarlet	36

For example: Crinkle Cream.

In parenthesis (Ellis) is the name of the originator. 400 denotes large size glads. The 10 denotes (light) yellow. Followed are the approximate days to bloom. This is the average time required when large bulbs are planted—when the soil is warm enough to start immediate growth. This may vary in different soils, and in seasons when the rainfall and temperature is not normal. In some instances the days to bloom are not available in certain varieties.

By using this chart you may be able to easily assign placement for your entries at the shows.

IRIS TALL BEARDED VARIETIES

As an outdoor garden flower, there is probably no other so widely grown which gives such a variety of color. Coming in the early springtime when flowers are scarce they show off in a riot of brilliance. On account of its easy culture they are ideal for planting in rock gardens and borders, or right out in the open. Although they do well in partial shade, they do love the sunlight and that is where they bloom in profusion. They have what it takes to stand heat and drought, in fact these are two of their main characteristics. They will thrive in nearly any kind of soil, although they do like a little lime and bonemeal worked into the soil. Once planted they need very little care, except the usual cultivation. Rhizomes planted the latter part of June, July or August will make nice blooms the following year. In far northern states where the winters are severe, it is advisable to cover after it freezes, with straw or other clean material. For specimen blooms they should be divided every three or four years. Full cultural directions with every order. The number following each variety (as 28") denotes approximate height in inches.

PEONIES—Double

For permanent planting in the perennial bed, around shrubbery, as a hedge row, along driveways, or out in the open, there is no flower that can take the place of the peony. The original investment will produce yearly dividends in gorgeous blooms over a period of from 15 to 20 years, when once planted and left undisturbed. Peonies will grow in any kind of well drained soil. The soil should be well cultivated around them, and a light dressing of well rotted fertilizer worked in the soil around them in the late Fall. They are very hardy and need no special winter protection, and are not pestered with diseases and insects. Ideal for landscaping, as well as cut flowers, with a fragrance, all their own. As an outdoor flower, they are admired and are extremely popular for their showy green foliage, and the wide range of colors. Full cultural directions enclosed with each order.
